Description

The Angus designs are distinguished by the shape that is carried through the entire piece of furniture, from top to base. By allowing all lines to flow in the same direction, peace and unity is created.

This coffee table is handcrafted with multiple layers Mortex® on a wooden base. Mortex® is a durable and ecological material, developed by the Belgian company Beal International. It's a mineral micro-mortar, based on natural lime and cement, which is waterproof and extremely wear-resistant. The structure and color shades that arises after the application of the plaster leaves the signature of the craftsman. This makes each piece unique. The plaster has the same characteristics as natural stone and is very easy to maintain after the multiple layer coating. Due to the flexibility of the material, the color and shape possibilities are endless.

Each piece of furniture is carefully crafted with attention to detail and a focus on functionality. This results into a timeless design that fits into any interior.
